Michael Beatty and Michael Wozniak Receive Honors as “Super Lawyers”

Denver – Michael Beatty and Michael Wozniak, both founding partners at Beatty & Wozniak, P.C., the premier energy and natural resources law firm in the Rocky Mountain region, were recently named two of Colorado’s Super Lawyers.

Featuring the top five percent of attorneys in the state, Colorado Super Lawyers are chosen first through peer nominations and then a blue ribbon panel review and independent research of candidates by Law & Politics, a publisher of legal magazines since 1990. Attorneys with more than five years experience are asked to nominate other attorneys whom they have personally observed in action. Lawyers may nominate others in their firm, but only if they also nominate an equal or greater number from other firms.

“These honors help confirm Beatty & Wozniak’s reputation in the Rocky Mountain Region for providing knowledgeable and experienced legal counsel in all matters related to the oil and gas industry,” said Michael Beatty, Chairman of Beatty & Wozniak, P.C.

Michael Beatty, a Harvard Law School graduate, began his career with the energy industry as in-house counsel for Colorado Interstate Gas Company, and ultimately became Executive Vice President, General Counsel and a Director of The Coastal Corporation. He also served as Chief of Staff to Colorado Governor Roy Romer from 1993-1995. Michael Beatty started the Beatty Law Firm in 1998, and then joined forces with Michael Wozniak to form Beatty & Wozniak, PC, in 2005 as a full-spectrum legal resource for the oil and gas industry.

Michael Wozniak has served the energy and natural resources industry for more than 25 years. Before joining forces with Michael Beatty, he served as Partner-in-Charge of Dorsey and Whitney LLP’s Denver office and head of its Denver Energy Regulatory Group. Michael Wozniak is on the Executive Committee of IPAMS and on the Executive Council of the Natural Resources and Energy Law Section of the Colorado Bar Association. He also serves as the Mayor of Cherry Hills Village, Colorado. Previously, he practiced for more than 20 years with Clanahan, Tanner, Downing & Knowlton, where he chaired its Natural Resources Practice Group. He earned his J.D. from the University of Colorado School of Law in 1980.
